

General Practice Improvement Leads programme 2022/23

The General Practice Improvement Leads programme is an accredited personal development programme for those working in general practice, including GPs, practice managers, nurses, reception managers and senior administrators. Participants gain new perspectives, skills and confidence in using quality improvement tools and techniques (improvement science) for service redesign and leading colleagues and teams through change.

The programme is six days (three x two-day modules) with support sessions and an optional coaching call in between modules. The programme incorporates interactive elements, action learning and personal project work, with participants leading a small-scale change improvement challenge in their own practice.

Participants must commit to attend all modules in the cohort and work actively on their improvement challenge - a specific problem or issue (normally a process or system) within the practice - that the participant is ready and able to address. For example, improving a specific recall system, optimising the triage process, improving the process for dealing with documents, increasing the uptake of online consultations. The improvement challenge must be given at the application stage. Individuals must apply for their own place.

This is a practical programme and participants will be expected to participate fully, including contributing actively to discussions and group work. Participants will provide updates on their progress throughout, using an electronic workbook and present a final summary of progress to date and learning at the final module.

Cohorts held IN PERSON

- For cohorts held in person (i.e. face-to-face), overnight accommodation (bed and breakfast only) is available if required, for the middle night of each module at no cost to delegates. Accommodation must be requested at the application stage and is booked centrally for delegates by the team.
- Travel costs are not funded. Delegates will need to arrange and cover the cost of their own travel as needed, including between workshop venue and overnight accommodation if these are not in the same place.

Cohorts held VIRTUALLY

- All sessions will be held on the MS Teams platform. Delegates should ensure they have sole use of a computer/laptop with working camera and sound.

There are up to 30 places available on each cohort held in person and 16 places for cohorts held virtually. Places are offered on a first come, first served basis for those who fulfil the application requirements set out above.
